Demos told time's come

By Mike Myers

EDWARDSVILLE — It's an exciting time to be a Democrat, S. House Majority Leader Dick Gephardt told a cheering crowd here Saturday night.

The Missouri Democrat spoke in front of more than 500 Madison County Democrats at the 1989 John F. Kennedy memorial champagne dinner and dance held in the Wierdman Ballroom at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Gephardt said citizens across the United States are "sick of President Bush's 'Don't Worry, Be Happy' leadership and slide-by budgeting" and want leadership to reflect their values.

"We Democrats reflect those values," Gephardt said. "People in 1990 will turn out in droves to put the country back on a positive course."

Gephardt said Illinois has the chance to put a Democrat, Neil Hartigan, in the governor's mansion as well as electing other Democrats to state offices.

Sen. Paul Simon's seat, Gephardt said, is the number one priority for an upset by Republicans nationwide and Madison County and Illinois must assure that Simon returns to the Senate, the speaker stressed.

Simon, who spoke later in the evening, echoed Gephardt's call for a return of American values, vision and courage.

Re-electing Rep. Jerry Costello, lauded by Gephardt for surviving four contested races last

Republicans push Gaffner

COLLINSVILLE — Republican Robert Gaffner could take on U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, Belleville Democrat, for a third time, said Edward Ragsdale, Republican state central committee man for the 21st Congressional District.

Gaffner, of Greenville, discussed his plans Saturday at an all-day Republican conference at Collinsville Holiday Inn.

Republican John Shimkus announced his candidacy against Democrat Michael "Mick" Henkhaus, the incumbent Madison County treasurer. Shimkus is a Collinsville Township trustee and a teacher and coach at Metro East Lutheran High School in Edwardsville.

Walter Gorski of Edwardsville, president of Midwest Title Insurance, hopes to unseat State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, Ragsdale said.

In November 1988, Costello beat Gaffner by a wide margin, after having beaten him in the previous August's special election, held to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of Mel Price. Both men must win spring primaries to challenge each other in the 1990 general election.

year, should be a top priority, Simon said.

"In the House of Representatives, it does not get any better than Jerry Costello," Gephardt said.

History, Gephardt added, shows that things go in cycles. He said the progressive period of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman was followed by a period of regression.

Then, he said, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson brought another progressive period to the presidency.

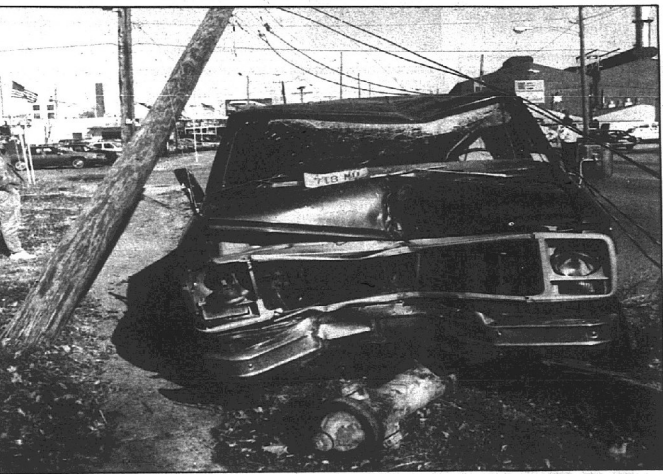

"But we've been in a period of entrenchment since 1968," Gephardt said. "It is coming to an end."

Gephardt said the challenges facing the Democratic Party are not easy to meet and it would be easy for an individual to ask, "What can one person do?" Part of the answer, he said, came out in a speech given by Lech Walesa in a special session of Congress this month.

Walesa, Gephardt said, told how he had been kicked out of the shipyard where he worked for organizing a strike. Walesa "jumped over the fence" and continued to organize.

ONE-VAN ACCIDENT: This 1979 GMC van driven by Ollie S. Walker, 75, of Madison failed to make the curve while southbound on Madison Avenue at 15th Street Monday and knocked over a fire hydrant, sheared off a utility pole breaking a street light, and came to rest on a guardrail. Walker could not remember what happened, but a witness reported hearing what could have been a fire blow out and seeing the van go out of control. Walker was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was reported in guarded condition.

Burning issue of leaves goes up in smoke

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Legalized leaf burning is a dead issue, at least for another year.

The City Council Tuesday voted 11-3 against a resolution that would have permitted leaf burning from noon until 4 p.m. on weekends during the leaf-burning season.

Under council rules, the topic cannot be considered for 12 months.

Only 7th Ward Alderman Emerald Dawes, who originated the resolution several meetings ago, 5th Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey and 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney voted for the resolution.

In July, the aldermen voted to retain the ban on leaf burning, and the police department has been issuing citations and making arrests for the offense. In many cases, the fire department has been called to put out the fires.

When the resolution first came before the council through the ordinance committee, it was referred to the Sanitation Committee, chaired by 6th Ward Alderman Judy Whitaker. It was listed on Tuesday's agenda, although not yet forwarded to the council by the committee.

Whitaker argued, and City Attorney Mark Goldenberg agreed, it was not legally on the agenda. After a tie vote on a motion to table the resolution, Mayor Von Dee Cruse voted not to table. Goldenberg again said a measure not properly on the agenda couldn't be tabled, and the matter was dropped for awhile.

The issue came up again at the end of the meeting under the heading of unfinished business when Partney said the ordinance required it to be brought back on the floor.

Seventh Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen said the resolution was in conflict with state law, which bans leaf burning as an air pollutant. Dawes and Bailey argued it was not.

Goldenberg said all the statutes he read had an exemption for "landscaping waste."

Whitaker said mandatory waste recycling is on its way and the burning ban was helping get people to change their habits and start bagging leaves.

Changing people's habits when it comes to waste is an important key to the mandated recycling program's success, she said, and it would hurt to let people think they don't need to obey recycling laws because their aldermen will eventually vote to ignore these laws anyway.

A number of aldermen argued the city must be consistent.

Whitaker said the aldermen can't repeal laws just because "you get a couple of phone calls and can't stand the pressure."

Walesa admires Chicago

By Andy Siering

CHICAGO — Former Granite Cityan Robert Gibson, president of the Illinois state AFL-CIO, who last weekend met Lech Walesa, leader of the Polish labor union Solidarity, said Walesa was impressed by the "City of Broad Shoulders."

Gibson rode back from O'Hare International Airport with Walesa on Friday night. He said Walesa pressed his nose to the window of the limousine as it neared downtown Chicago and its towering skyline.

"Oh, my God, fantastic!" Gibson said Walesa exclaimed.

Gibson said Walesa's visit was "a great inspiration — not just for the labor movement but for the whole city of Chicago." He said Chicago has more people of Polish ancestry than any city in the world except Warsaw, Poland. Chicago's Polish community is about 800,000.

About 15,000 Chicagoans braved bitter cold Saturday afternoon to greet Walesa at Daley Center, Gibson said.

Gibson said Walesa learned a bit more English during his stay. He filmed two "Union, Yes!" commercials to be aired this week on the sitcom Roseanne and during Saturday's nationally televised Notre Dame football game.

Walesa told the AFL-CIO convention in Washington Nov. 14 that he was here as a trade unionist.

"The bond of friendship between Solidarity and the AFL-CIO is strong and enduring," Walesa told the convention. "It has been shaped over the years, both good and bad. You have proven to be our most steadfast allies in the trade union struggle for human freedom."

"A vast movement for democracy and freedom is developing in my country. It is changing the political face of Poland and of the world. And that movement has been made possible only through the peaceful struggle of working people, of trade unionists like you and I."

Walesa addressed the U.S. House and Senate on Wednesday.

State AFL-CIO head to retire

CHICAGO — It's not official yet, but Robert Gibson will retire soon as president of the Illinois AFL-CIO (American Federation of Labor/Congress of Industrial Organizations).

Gibson, who grew up in Granite City and worked at Granite City Steel, said, "It hasn't been announced yet, but it is rumored that Gibson is about to announce his retire-

Gibson said the "rumored" retirement would take place early next year and that he might move back to Granite City. He said his mother, Viola, still lives on Myrtle Avenue in the house where he was raised.

Gibson moved to Chicago in 1964 after his 1963 election as secretary-treasurer of the state labor organization.

Airport victim once lived in Granite City

ST. LOUIS — A former Granite City resident who police said was shot Saturday by her son-in-law at Lambert-St. Louis International Airport, died at 3:30 p.m. Monday at DePaul Health Center in Bridgeton.

Mary A. (Jaltorossian) Deukmejian, 62, was booked on an 8:05 a.m. flight home Saturday to Pasadena, Calif., accompanied by her daughter and grandchildren (wife and children of the accused man) who reside in St. Louis.

When they arrived at the airport's East Terminal, Masroub Sahakian was waiting outside the terminal with a .33-caliber automatic handgun, according to police. Angry words were exchanged.

"At some point he just produced the gun and shot her in the head," said St. Louis County police detective William Ostendorf.

Sahakian, 37, of St. Louis, was charged Tuesday with first-degree murder. He is being held without bond. Initially, he was charged with first-degree assault.

Mrs. Deukmejian resided in Granite City from 1979 until 1985. She leaves an older daughter and a son-in-law in Granite City.

On Monday, Azo Sahakian, 39, who came here with her husband from their native Lebanon, obtained an order in St. Louis Circuit Court to keep him away. The couple was married about 2½ years, and police said he had struck his wife on past occasions. Police said Sahakian feared the loss of his wife and children and blamed his mother-in-law for taking them away.

Mrs. Deukmejian apparently had been in St. Louis for about a week. She was to be joined on the return trip by her daughter, a

Girl hurt in accident; cab incident nets charges

A 16-year-old girl was in stable condition Nov. 17 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after being injured in a traffic accident at 9:55 p.m. Nov. 18.

Tracey L. Edwards, of the 1500 block of Johnson Road suffered a laceration to the scalp and was taken by ambulance to the hospital, where she was admitted.

Thomas M. Andrews, 18, of the 2800 block of Sunset Drive, said he was driving north on Illinois 203, just south of Bremen Avenue, when Edwards attempted to make a left turn into the southbound lanes of the dual-lane highway.

Andrews slowed his car after seeing the other vehicle, but his auto struck the rear quarter of Edwards' vehicle on the driver's side, he told police.

When Edwards entered the intersection, the engine of her 1977 Oldsmobile died, she reported. She was charged with failure to yield the right of way while making a left turn.

Two charges filed
A woman who allegedly failed to pay the driver of a taxi cab and became belligerent was arrested at 1:35 a.m. Nov. 17.

Tammy Sue Weidhausen, 24, of St. Charles, Mo., was charged with theft and criminal damage to property following the incident in the 4200 block of the Kirkpatrick Homes.

David Fanning, a driver for Checker Cab Co., said he picked up the suspect at a tavern in the 2900 block of Nameoki Road and took her to the housing complex. En route, the woman became belligerent because of the transmission coming over the cab's two-way radio, the driver said. She allegedly screamed at him and kept reaching over the front seat, he alleged.

Upon reaching the destination, Weidhausen climbed over the front seat, kicked the passenger side window and grabbed the two-way microphone pulling it out of the corner and damaging the cord and module plug, Fanning alleged.

Weidhausen then got out of the cab and went to the door of an apartment, Fanning said. The driver went back to the cab company where he reported the incident to the dispatcher who called police, he said.

Weidhausen was sitting on the steps outside an apartment when officers arrived at the housing complex, the report said. In an appearance at the Granite City court the same day, Weidhausen pleaded guilty and was released, pending an appearance Dec. 15 for sentencing, police said.

Physicians renew commitment to educate teens about AIDS

Teens are at risk of becoming the next wave of Illinois AIDS cases unless they stop activities that put them at risk for exposure to the virus, a group of Illinois doctors were told at a recent Illinois State Medical Society (ISMS) workshop.

"Because we have a significant problem with teenage pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases among the young, we should expect that the number of teenagers who are infected with the AIDS virus will increase dramatically in the Midwest," Anthony Dekker, D.O., told physicians attending the ISMS Aids and Adolescents workshop.

As of September, 675 AIDS cases were reported in Illinois for 20 to 29 year olds, which account for 21 percent of all Illinois AIDS cases, according to the Illinois Department of Public Health. Because AIDS symptoms can take seven years or longer to develop after a person is infected with the AIDS virus, Dekker said it's probable that most of these individuals were infected as adolescents.

AIDS will most likely be spread among the teen-age population by heterosexual contact, "unlike the first of the AIDS cases seen among teens," Dekker said. "Most of the first cases were among homosexuals. Now what's happening is that half the teens we treat have been infected by IV drug abuse. About a fourth of our kids have been infected by homosexual contact and the remainder by heterosexual contact."

Hispanic census impact to be stressed

GRANITE CITY — Anthony Ramirez, past president of the St. Louis Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, and Stephanie Anthony, community awareness specialist for the U.S. Bureau of the Census, will be the featured speakers Sunday at a meeting of the Southwestern Chapter, Illinois Hispanic Democratic Council, headquartered in Chicago. The group will meet Nov. 26 at 2 p.m. at the Mexican Honorary Commission Hall, 1801 Spruce St., Granite City.

Ramirez, a St. Louis attorney long active in issues involving the civil rights of Hispanics, will discuss ways Hispanics can deal with infringement of their civil rights.

Anthony, of the Belleville district office of the Bureau of the Census, will detail the importance of local involvement in the taking of the 1990 national census and how the census affects communities.

"We want to get involved in the census," said John Valencia, chapter chairman. "It is a goal of the Hispanic Democratic Council to make sure we get an accurate count of Hispanics in the 1990 census. We've been grossly undercounted every time so far."

Valencia said the census is important for more reasons than finding out how many people live in the United States.

"It has to do with Congressional redistricting, jobs, education, and where and how all kinds of government funds are spent," he said.

The meeting is open to the public.

Talk show host dinner speaker

VENICE — Richard "Onion" Horton, WGNU radio talk show host, will be guest speaker at a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 9, to benefit needy residents of Venice Ward 2 and Precinct 2.

The event is open to the public and the money raised will help to purchase food and other items for needy families and individuals at Christmas, said 2nd Ward Alderman John Henry Williams.

A donation of $7.50 per person is sought from those attending the dinner, he said. Williams is co-sponsoring the event with Ruby Johnson, Precinct 2 committeeman.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a person is injured in an automobile accident, it is difficult to predict accurately how much a jury would award in a given case. In one recent case, the plaintiff was stopped behind a car which was turning left when he was struck from the rear by the defendant's car. Following the accident, the plaintiff began experiencing pain in the lower left portion of his neck. He later sought medical treatment at an emergency room, and subsequent to that he consulted with several doctors, including a chiropractor and a neurosurgeon.

The plaintiff testified at trial that after the accident he was unable to play soccer or swim, and that he experienced pain several times a day in his neck area. The plaintiff also testified that the pain had affected his ability to drive a car and that he was unable to sleep through the night since the date of the accident.

The neurosurgeon testified that the plaintiff came to his office complaining of headaches and neck pains. The doctor prescribed pain medication and performed a myelogram and CAT scan. The results of both tests were negative, and the neurosurgeon's final diagnosis was cervical spine strain. The doctor further noted that the plaintiff would continue to experience pain in the future.

The total medical bills of the plaintiff were $3,339.54. At the conclusion of the non-jury trial, the court entered judgment for the plaintiff in the amount of $45,650.00. The insurance company felt the amount of the award was excessive in light of the relatively small amount of medical bills, and the defendant appealed the case on this basis. The defendant maintained that the trial court's award for personal injuries was against the manifest weight of the evidence, since approximately $1,300.00 of the total in medical bills was for diagnostic testing which produced negative results.

The Appellate Court noted that a judgment may be found to be against the manifest weight of the evidence only where the opposite conclusion is apparent or where findings appeared to be unreasonable, arbitrary, or not based on the evidence. In the present case, the Appellate Court felt there was ample evidence to support the trial court's finding of permanent injury, as well as the possibility of future pain. In light of the evidence, the judgment of the trial court was affirmed.

Picking up ball downtown

City government was right Nov. 16 in launching a downtown development program.

Although it was well-intentioned, the downtown-renewal talk during the late 1980s "froze" most of the 18th to 20th streets commercial area. Businesses didn't want to build or locate where their structures might be condemned and torn down. As a result, the number of store and office vacancies grew and some buildings were removed.

Wal-Mart had been wooed as a centerpiece for a new downtown Granite City, but that approach didn't work, or at least hasn't worked fast enough.

The new plan, based on "not waiting any longer," seeks options on at least 75 percent of the property and could enable prospective developers and tenants to deal with a single owner," the city.

One of the most refreshing aspects is the fact that the plan calls for action, with a March 1 deadline on land purchase options. We suspect that hardly anybody wants to hear any more advice like "Let's be patient and wait until the time is ripe."

"Justice delayed is justice denied," and we think that also applies to redevelopment. Empty buildings and empty lots are unappealing and convey a message of decay and failure. They generate problems and they don't generate revenue for government or for ripple-effect economic growth.

In football terms, Granite City needs to pick up the ball and run with it toward the goal of a resurgent downtown, now, in our lifetime.

Leaders planning for growth

The proposed Quad City economic development agency discussed by municipal leaders and state Rep. Sam Wolf in recent meetings could be a great step forward, particularly if it is wisely designed and if there is effective coordination and cooperation between it and the local Chamber of Commerce.

This area in numerous respects is a single community and could benefit by acting like a single entity.

Within the Venice-Madison-Granite City-Pontoon Beach region are many assets, including sites, buildings, utility services, transportation, manpower, the ability to raise the local share for matching fund state or federal projects, and the know-how to assemble attractive development packages. Each community must learn to use its neighbor's resources.

With governmental, manufacturing, labor and financial leaders working together for growth and prosperity, much can be, and undoubtedly will be, accomplished. An aggressive, coordinated approach such as this is the right step.

A look at the end of life

The holidays took on new meaning for me last week when I went to visit my wife's grandmother at the Madison County Nursing Home in Edwardsville.

Not since I was a boy had I been to a care home, and this time I was able to take my small children. They learned through wide-eyed wonder the true meaning of life by watching these residents. And I, in turn, learned from them.

If life is indeed a beginning, middle and end, then what better way to see than kids and their father visiting a nursing home?

We were in the "sun room," where about a dozen women in wheelchairs gathered to rest peacefully, looking out the large paneled windows of the home, watching leaves fall gently from the few trees outside.

Unfortunately, most of the women didn't leave a day later. In fact, they stared blankly. One resident babbled incessantly. "No one cares about me," she whimpered in a pleading tone. "Take me out of here." She continued the entire 30 minutes I was there, and she was right. She does it virtually all the time.

Another woman cried, for no apparent reason, though I'm sure the reasons were apparent to her. One wouldn't need much reason to cry in a place such as this.

This was a beautiful Sunday

afternoon and visitors in the sun room could be counted on one hand. I didn't see the rest of the building, but I suspected that I could count on my other hand the remaining visitors, since the parking lot was far from full. No one would choose to be here.

I watched with admiration as attendants and nurses bustled about the corridors, caring for the patients in a tender manner. For many residents, these workers are their lifeline to the outside world. I was told that the staff frequently rotates between floors so as not to get too attached to any one resident.

I am writing this out of a sense of guilt that we must all share. There are many nursing homes out there. But too few visitors. These once-vibrant individuals contributed much to life before circumstances brought them here. Today, the only spark in their eyes is prompted by visits.

Life, even at the end, is meant to be shared.

Mr. Smith goes to Washington, again

The following guest column is by U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, Democrat, of Makanda, Ill.

One of the constant questions which confronts those of us in government at all levels is:

How far should the government go? When should we act and when should we refrain from acting?

I have just experienced a good example of this dilemma.

Someone whose talents I have long respected stopped by my office.

Actor Jimmy Stewart, who once starred in the film classic, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," came to Washington.

He was asking for something he believes deeply that the federal government should control.

It may seem trivial to most people, but to the actors and directors from whom Congress is hearing these days, it is deeply important.

The subject: Colorization of old black and white films.

Those who produced those black and white films, or acted in them, believe that changing them is like dabbling with a painting produced by a great artist.

As someone who sees movies rarely but usually enjoys them when I do, I have an extremely limited artistic sense. It tells me that I agree with Jimmy Stewart and the others on one point:

I want to see "Casablanca" and "Gaslight" and the other great black and white films as they were, not through some color process that is often painfully poor.

But having agreed with the advocates up to that point, I know that the next question is whether the government should intervene.

My inclination is to say that with all of the problems the federal government has, this is not a small added burden we should take on.

There are issues so complex that the public rarely forms any opinion. There are issues that frankly bore the public.

But colorization of films is one we all can relate to. However, I have received only a handful of letters on this, from a state with almost 12 million people. I can only conclude that this is not a matter of concern to any but a select few.

I hope there is some way of solving this problem without federal government intervention.

Clark Bridge approval was joint effort

To the editor:

I would like to offer my thanks and congratulations to the residents of Madison County and the state and local officials who worked so hard for funding to build a new Clark Bridge between Illinois and Missouri.

Alton Mayor Ed Voumard Jr.,

the City Council, state Rep. Jim McPike and Sen. Sam Vadalabene, the Madison County Board and its chairman, Nellie Hagauer and countless citizens joined me and Sens. Alan Dixon and Paul Simon in pushing the U.S. secretary of Transportation for $28.4 million in discretionary bridge funding.

This new bridge will be a significant economic boost to the entire region.

When I came to Congress, I said the Clark Bridge would be my number one public works project in 1989. The positive benefits of the new Clark Bridge will be beneficial to the 21st Congressional District and the entire region.

Again, my thanks to everyone who helped in the fight for the new Clark Bridge.

U.S. REP. JERRY COSTELLO

Reader: Faith in God is answer to drug abuse

To the editor:

As I read your section in the Suburban Journal in Madison on Oct. 26 concerning drugs, I was inspired by the power of the Holy Ghost to respond to your article.

I have been working with juveniles, offenders and ex-offenders for the past 26 years, during which I've gained insight and valuable experience on what steps to take in preventing and stopping drug abuse.

Your column stated eight steps; another article stated 12 steps, but I declare to you there is only one step required. I've witnessed this step time and time again and that step is accepting Jesus Christ as your Lord and personal Savior.

Once a person gives his life to Jesus completely, just one touch from God and he will change habits. I know Jesus is a habit breaker. Not only drugs, but theft and any other habit a person may have.

Jesus said in John 10:10: "The thief cometh not but for to steal, to kill and to destroy; I come that they might have life and that more abundantly."

Jesus gives life through His blood.

I Corinthians 5:17 states: "Therefore if any man be in Christ he is a new creature; old things are passed away. Behold, all things are become new."

My friends, when we welcome Jesus into our society with prayer and ask God to deliver our children, as Proverbs 3:6 states, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy path," then we will see a change in our many communities across the land.

Parents, take your children to Sunday School, pray in your homes with your children, read the Bible to them and teach them to fear God and to love Him.

Young people, say no to drugs and know that God loves you. Why take a chance on your life and die young when you can live to get old?

We, as adults in the body of Christ, let us pray and keep our youth up before God in prayer.

Also, I noticed the new budget for drug abuse is $113.6 million. But if you let Jesus do it for you, it will cost you nothing but a surrendered life in Christ.

Remembering Berlin before wall went up and came tumbling down

"NOV. 9, 1989 — East Germany opened the Berlin Wall and other borders and cheering citizens crossed freely to the West."

When I returned to work this week after a few days leave, I hadn't intended to write a "travel" column for today. I had another topic in mind.

But with Nov. 9 being hailed as "the day the Cold War ended," my thoughts unavoidably went back three decades, when the Cold War still hot.

EVEN THEN, two years before the wall was built, we were somewhat apprehensive.

But we were curious enough about the divided city's contrasts to want to see them first-hand, both free West Berlin and Communist-controlled East Berlin.

It was 1959 and Lois and I were on our first journey to Germany. There wasn't any Bill Jr. to take along and there wasn't any wall to cross; he and Berlin's concrete and barbed-wire Iron Curtain barrier weren't born until 1961.

HIRING A GUIDE seemed to be the best way to proceed. The one we chose drove his own auto and was ideal for three reasons:

•He spoke English fluently.

•He knew all areas of the city and could conduct our sight-seeing tour efficiently and knowledgeably.

•He had been doing this for several years and had befriended border officials and police officers on both sides.

BRANDENBURG GATE, a 200-year-old landmark, forms a massive triumphal arch at the western end of Unter den Linden, once Berlin's principal thoroughfare. This is where we crossed from West to East.

Brandenburg, incidentally, appeared in the background for most network television newscasts from West Berlin this month, although actually part of East Berlin.

Obtaining permission to enter the eastern sector proved to be routine for us, thanks to our guide.

BILL Winter

THE TRIP was uneventful, just the way we wanted it to be. We didn't want to be taken captive by these mean Reds, and we knew Uncle Sam wouldn't exactly go to war to rescue a couple of nosy tourists.

Our worries weren't entirely unfounded.

East Germany on occasions had cracked down on free travel to the surrounded city, prompting President Harry Truman's airlift that succeeded in keeping freedom alive in part of the former German capital.

ALTHOUGH THE WALL had not yet been hinted at in 1959, East Germany already had shown concern about its residents defecting.

Of course, it wasn't until after the wall was built that defections became such a life-and-death issue. Dozens of would-be escapees were machine-gunned by Communist soldiers during the 1960s, '70s and '80s and there even was such a death in early 1989.

Numerous attempts were made to tunnel under the wall, some successful and some not.

Now, since the opening of the wall Nov. 9, East Germany is gambling that most who go on weekend visits and shopping sprees will return to the East and its promises of additional reforms and increased liberty.

THE VAST DIFFERENCES between free Berlin and enslaved Berlin were among the reasons why Communist authorities did not want much travel to occur after World War II.

Berlin had been bombed into rubble by the time the war ended in 1945. You could think most of it would have been spruced up in the next 14 years.

That was true in West Berlin, except for symbolic church ruins left on Kurstendamm (the main street) as a grim reminder of the past. But East Berlin in 1945 had more than symbolic ruins.

BOMBED, FIRE-GUTTED buildings were visible block after block. A few old women were seen wielding brooms to sweep the streets, but that dreary city had almost no traffic or commerce.

West Berlin, meanwhile, was bright and busy, a testimonial to the success of the free enterprise system.

News dispatches in recent days indicate there still are stark contrasts between the two halves of the city. But there are fewer shortages and better living conditions in East Germany than in any of the other Soviet satellites.

LED BY LECH WALESA of Poland and other fighters for freedom, sparked by similar yearnings in other "buffer countries" around Russia, and accelerated by the obvious inefficiencies and cruelties of the Communist system, occurrences such as public protests and the opening of the Berlin Wall give hope that a new, more enlightened era may be dawning.

Surely, mankind was not destined to live under tyranny forever. Totalitarianism must cease someday; why not 1989?

Ohlendorf's Warriors shun size disadvantage

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Don Deterding's long and successful career at Granite City ended with a couple of forgettable seasons. The Warriors weren't overly talented and they certainly weren't very big.

Deterding is gone, and so might be Granite City's size disadvantage. When Bill Ohlendorf resumes his head coaching career this weekend, he'll send out a team that at least will look formidable. The two big reasons for that will be sophomore twins Jeff and Brian Smith. With both listed at 6-7, Ohlendorf is hoping the new look will translate into success.

"Both of them are in the starting lineup for now," said Ohlendorf, who has a 327-209 record in 22 years of coaching, 12 at Venice and 10 at Granite City North. "It's a lot of pressure to put on a couple of 15-year-olds, I realize that."

Ohlendorf said Jeff Smith, who started in five varsity games as a freshman for a Warrior team that went 7-19, is more of a true inside player.

"Jeff is better on the low post," said Ohlendorf, who was named to Deterding's staff in April. "Brian looks like he can move out 15-18 feet from the basket and face it. Jeff has a little more body strength and Brian is a little quicker right now."

Most of the Warriors' varsity experience comes from senior guards John Van Buskirk and Matt Cook. But the championship soccer season left its mark on both.

Cook underwent surgery on both knees on Tuesday and will miss the first couple weeks of the season. The 5-11 bomber averaged 11.3 points per game last year, hitting on 81 of 209 three-point shots, including eight in Granite City's stunningly close 61-57 loss to eventual state champion East St. Louis Lincoln in the regionals.

"It all depends on how much needed to be done," Ohlendorf said. "When I had Brian Levin at North, he played 10 days after arthroscopic surgery, but that was just on one knee. I would say it will be a minimum of 14 days before Matt can do much. But that's half of our senior leadership right there."

bum right legs in Illinois as he led the Warriors to the state soccer title earlier this month. The 6-1 senior averaged 10 points and four assists from the point guard spot last year.

"I think he's back to about 80 percent now," said Ohlendorf. "The success of the soccer team was great, but it set us back a little health-wise."

The rest of the starting lineup will come from a group including 6-1 junior Bob Thomas, 6-1 senior Skip Birdsong, 6-10 junior Jay Richardson and 6-6 senior Joe Wallace.

"Right now we're fluctuating with a lot of guys," Ohlendorf said. "A lot of them look good one night and not so good the next night."

"Bobby is a true wing player and a stronger rebounder. Joe saw some varsity time at the end of last year (2.0 points per game in six games) and shoots very well from the outside. He does a lot of the things Matt can do for us. Skip is shooting the ball very well. The soccer season really benefited him. And Jay is as good defensively as anyone we have. He has a lot of court awareness. He just needs to shoot more consistently and at times he plays too fast."

Dave Wickman, a 6-4 senior, will provide some size off the bench to help the Smiths, while 5-9 senior Bret Ware will back up Van Buskirk at the point position.

"Bret's size is a handicap, but he's very consistent in all phases of his game," said Ohlendorf. "He's the student body president and a very solid leader. We won't suffer with him in the game. Wickman can help us maintain our double post. He shoots real well, but he has a problem at times with his endurance."

Guards who could see some time include 6-3 junior Brian

Skaters sloppy in home victory over McCluer

GRANITE CITY — Play well and love. Play poorly and hate. That's been the Warrior hockey team's modus operandi so far.

After playing fairly well in season-opening non-division losses to Country Day and Kirkwood, Granite City was very sloppy in its Mid-state Club Hockey Association home opener at the Wilson Park rink on Monday. So naturally the Warriors beat North Division rival McCluer 11-5.

"I wasn't very impressed and I related that to the players after the game," said Warrior coach Garry Henson. "McCluer only had 10 skaters, so we should have skated them off the ice because we had 18 players dressed. The idea is not to play down to the other team's level, but that's what we did."

Despite the sloppiness, the Warriors (1-2) finally broke loose on offense after scoring only two goals in the first two games.

Sophomore Mike Naeve led the explosion with four goals, giving him five on the season. Senior Matt Schnefke added his first two goals of the year and two assists. Nathan Weaver had a goal and three assists, Mike Jaros had a goal and two assists, and John Culberk had a goal and an assist.

"But we should have had 111 goals," said Henson. "Matt must have had 12 great chances to score, and the two he did get weren't on real great chances."

The Comets outshot the Warriors 33-21. They had early 1-0 leads, but Naeve scored twice in the first period as Granite City led 4-2 at the first intermission. Then Naeve got two more to break the game open in the second stanza. Jamie Dake and freshman Chris Goclan had Granite City's other goals. Chris Burns, Dave Ezell and Doug Crites also had assists.

Freshman Brent Golden played the first two periods in goal and allowed three goals, while junior Robbie Nolan played the final period and gave up two goals.

"It's a division win, so that's important," said Henson. "But we were outshot and outskated by a team that's not real strong. Maybe it was because it was the first home game, but we'll have to get much better than this."

The Warriors have two more North Division games coming up. They play Francis Howell on Saturday in a 9:15 p.m. game at the North County rink, then play again at home Monday against McCluer North with an 8:30 p.m. faceoff.

Grapplers count on many sophomores

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Mike Garland is asking for a little patience. The kids need to grow up some more.

Garland begins his third season in charge of the Warrior wrestling program with a team that could start with as many as six sophomores. That normally isn't a good sign, but all the wackiness of last season means that most everybody has at least some varsity experience.

"The kids who are sophomores now were in seven or eight tournaments last year and went to (SIUE coach) Larry Kristoff's camp," said Garland, who is 47-25-1 in two seasons (23-10 last year). "Fifteen of them have some varsity experience. So we're young, but not totally without experience."

Such was the result of an injury-filled season which saw 29 different wrestlers participate in the season. And some of them wrestled in three and even four different weight classes.

The top two biggest losses to graduation are Brent Davis, Bryan Pritchett and Dan Grayson. Davis was 49-2 with 26 pins and dominated the loser's bracket at state after losing in the first round at 125 pounds. He set most of the Granite City career records and is now at SIUE.

"If any kid should have won state and didn't, it was Brent," said Garland. "I think he's another kid here somewhere like that. The memory of Brent is still here."

Pritchett was 40-7 with 24 pins at 119 pounds while Grayson was 23-14-1 with 15 pins at 160 pounds. Heavyweights Rocky Moss and Dale Hutson also combined for 21 wins and 19 pins. Pritchett is at BAC and Grayson is at MacMurray College.

Between those losses and all the youngsters on this year's squad, there is still plenty of room for returning Seniors Todd Hutchinson, Chris Hankins, Larry Hahne and Brad Massey combined for a 94-37-3 mark last year and 44 pins.

Hutchinson was 31-12 with 13 pins wrestling mostly at 112 pounds. He figures to move up to Davis' 152 spot.

"Todd hasn't been able to win the big match in the post-season yet," said Garland. "He's lost some close ones, but I hope he can clear the hurdle this season."

Hankins was 22-4 with three pins at 103 last year, but became ill and missed the final few weeks. He could move up to 130 this season.

"We would have been in a lot better shape in the regionals if Chris had been healthy," said Garland. "But that was the story of our season."

Massey was 22-10-2 with 13 pins at 171 while Hahne was 23-13-1 with 13 pins at 189. They both figure to remain at the same weight class this season.

Sophomores Ryan King and Chris Hane are battling for the 103 spot heading into tonight's opening match in Carbondale, with King holding an edge due to varsity experience (7-5-1) last year. Mark McKechnan (6-2 at 103) is the top candidate at 112.

Junior Brian Kershaw, sophomore Shawn Gooch and senior Craig Labray are battling for Pritchett's 119 spot.

After Hutchinson at 125, it's Hankins at 130 and Jerry Heuschman at 135. Chris Hoffst (2-11 last year) is first in line at 140.

Junior Scott Wilson or sophomore Doug Norton will battle for the 145 spot along with sophomore Chris Drennen. Sophomores John Ruckert and Scott Simon are the candidates at 152 while sophomore Russ Buchek figures to take Grayson's spot at 160.

After Massey and Hahne, it's a battle for the heavyweight spot between junior Joe Rodriguez and sophomores Alan Willard, Dave Cotter and Jason Roulanitis.

"That's a lot of sophomores, but once you put the uniform on you're varsity," said Garland. "It looks great for the future, and I don't think we'll have to worry about butterflies this year because of the experience most of them got last season."

"A lot of these kids bounced around to different weights last year, but they were tough and in most matches. It's the mental toughness and the pride of the kids in this town that makes a successful season out of what we had to work with. I thought it would be a rebuilding year, but it turned out OK, and that's the character of the kids."

As usual, Cahokia is the team to watch in the area along with Belleville East and West. What matters is being ready for regionals in February.

"You don't want to wish anything bad on anybody, but a lot can happen between now and then," said Garland.

Ogle, who didn't play last year, and 6-1 junior Rob Terrell.

"Ogle has made great strides," said Ohlendorf. "He's been in the gym since Labor Day. He's shooting pretty well. He will see some time. Terrell is very intense and intelligent. You don't have to tell him anything twice."

One thing the Warriors will be looking to do this year is end a 21-game Southwestern Conference losing streak. They haven't won a league game since Feb. 27, 1987, and went 0-10 in league play each of the last two seasons.
